Proposal	New championship category - Womens Radial Youth European Championship – Under 21yrs. At the Standard rig Youth European Championship a separate fleet of women U21 race at the same regatta venue on the same course or on a separate race area if necessary
Current Situation	In the Standard rig a Youth European championship exists for men of 21 years and under. It serves as an excellent regatta for those making the transition to senior level racing. No regatta exists to facilitate Womens radial sailors of 21 years and under to transition to senior racing.
Reason for Proposal	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> - Equality between boys and girls opportunity - Drop out is a real issue for female sailors once they reach 19 years of age and this event will give youth girls a target regatta to aim for and continue sailing the radial to a high level. - This regatta will be an obvious target for countries looking to develop their young female sailors. - Average weight of a competitive international womans radial sailor is far higher than the average weight of a woman so this event caters for the younger sailors who have not fully achieved the competitive international weight.
